Looks Like Wets Win.

Since Tuesday dries and wets have waited returns on the election, first one in the lead, then the other. The dries felt almost certain of the result when a discovery of an error was reported from Cincinnati giving the wets 10,000 more votes. This was overcome and then another error of 1883 was discovered so that the wets now lead by about 8,000 on unofficial returns. It looks like a court contest to settle the dispute and another election next year if the wets should win. The suffrage proposal was defeated by more than 100,000.

Sergeant Cameron Ross and Paul Turnbull have been recommended for the next officers training camp which opens in January. This camp will be open only to conscripts. Both the boys have had promotion at Camp Sherman and should make good at the coming camp.

Mrs. Caroline Dean accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Sibley, to Columbus, Tuesday, where she will spend the winter.

MILITARY DASH.

One piece frocks for the business girl are more modish than ever. Of course navy serge is the fabric of this one, set off with many real brass buttons and much soutache in rows of three. The pointed collar is a copy of the military capes.

JAPAN FIGHTING HARD WAR FOR WORLD MARKETS

Has Made Tremendous Strides in Manufacturing and Exporting Since 1914.

Has Captured Markets Held by Other Nations—Trade to Australia Quadrupled—Buildings 600,000 Tons of Shipping to Handle Export Expansion

In the past few years Japan has undergone a tremendous industrial development. The enormous progress made by her in manufacturing and exporting since the outbreak of the war is little realized in this country.

It is not fully recognized that Japan is gradually changing from an agricultural to an industrial country, and that in her new drive to win some of the foreign markets she has captured considerable of the business which was formerly held by this country. The great expansion of her foreign trade since 1914 is shown by the official return of her trade in 1916.

Exports Far in Excess of Imports.

During that year the total value of imports was 756,000,000 yen, being an increase of 224,000,000, while the exports for the same period amounted to 1,127,500,000 yen, being an increase of about 418,000,000 yen. The actual excess of exports over imports for the year was 371,000,000 yen, as compared with 170,000,000 yen for 1915.

The changed position which has taken place since the beginning of the war may be seen from the fact that for the year 1914 there was actually an excess in the value of the imports over exports of about 4,600,000 yen.

Cotton manufacture is one of her principal industries, and the statistics show that the average number of spindles working daily in Japan in 1914 (the latest available year) was nearly 2,500,000. Wool manufacture was not carried on before the war to any great extent, but it has now received a considerable impetus, and Japanese factories are executing orders from the Russian Government.

The production of iron and steel—both in government and private works—has also been very considerable, the best iron ores being imported from China. Japan has some 600,000 tons of shipping now under construction, and the industry is in a flourishing condition. Her merchant marine consists of 1,170 steamers of 1,704, 785 tons, and 9,187 sailing ships of 672,403 tons. Ocean-going steamers exceeding 1,000 tons number 448, with a total tonnage of 1,428,212 tons. Thirty-nine ocean-going steamers of 140,236 tons were launched from Japanese yards in 1916.

May Use American Machinery.

It might be added that Japan is now investigating the possibility of using American cotton-spinning machinery in their mills. The extent of purchases already decided on is estimated at 200,000 spindles.

How her credit stands may be seen from the fact that her 4 1/2 per cent. loan is quoted on the London Stock Exchange at 91 1/2, yielding at that price, interest of nearly 6 per cent. Great Britain's 4 1/2 per cent. loan is quoted at 92 1/2, so we see how the relative positions of the two countries have changed since 1914. Before that fateful time no one would have dreamed of comparing the two credits.

Already Japanese manufacturers have quadrupled their exports to Australia. Ships which in the past averaged a cargo of 450 tons are now bringing 2,500 tons. The Japanese have captured a great deal of the trade once firmly held by American, British, German and French exporters. In the silk market they have won the premier position, and Australian shippers are now filled to overflowing with cheap Japanese silks.

The following Japanese goods are now sold with great success in the Australian market: Glasses, scientific instruments, silks, Panama hats, cottons, toys, insulators, electric light apparatus, camphor, sulphur oil, matches, householdware, rubber tires, bottles, porcelain.

Japan's rapid industrial and commercial strides will serve to intensify the formidable competition which the American manufacturer will have to meet both in domestic and foreign markets after the war. They afford another striking proof of the necessity for restoring friendly relations between capital and labor, securing fewer and better business laws and moulding a better public attitude toward business so that American industry may be rid of its handicaps and made strong for the trade fight after the restoration of peace—Industrial Conservation, New York.

Feeling the Public Pulse.

A board of trade or chamber of commerce can render vital service to a community by aiding in the passage of laws which tend to make the community more prosperous. In that respect the organization acts as an interpreter, helping to translate the needs and the desires of the people into laws that will encourage, rather than discourage, business enterprise.

There Are Many Good Reasons Now For Shopping Trip to Dayton

Social affairs are increasing in number. It's the time of the year—getting along toward the holidays—when dinner parties and home parties are of more frequent occurrence.

You'll want to look your prettiest for such events, of course. Dayton stores are full of pretty things to wear.

And home ought to be made especially attractive now; in Dayton stores you'll find suggestions galore for home beautifying.

For those not socially inclined, there's a good big reason too, and it applies to everybody. The winter weather calls for warm, comfortable clothes and sound shoes—for men, women and children.

Dayton's stores will fill all these needs for you, economically and well.

And isn't it time, by the way, to be buying the material for any Christmas gifts you are going to make?

Songs Inspire Shower of Crockery. Street singing is an especially Neapolitan institution, and when for the first time one hears beneath his windows the more often than not off-key versions of the snappy, lilting, impressively infectious Neapolitan songs he is enchanted and throws pennies freely. After a week or so of it as a steady diet, day and night, he inclines much more to heavy crockery.—National Geographic Magazine.

Daily Thought. A cheerful temper, joined with intelligence, will make beauty attractive, knowledge delightful and wit good-natured. It will lighten sickness, poverty and affliction; convert ignorance into an amiable simplicity, and render deformity itself agreeable.—Addison.

We have arranged for a series of six interesting articles, "War Talks," by Uncle Dan, written by Mr. Howard H. Gross, president of the Universal Military Training League, of which this is the first. They tell in a graphic way why military training is of value, both to the nation and to the individual, and our readers will find them of unusual interest.

WAR TALKS By UNCLE DAN Number One

America Must Fight Hard or Germany May Win—Necessity for Military Training.

"Now, Billie," said his mother, "your Uncle Dan is coming tomorrow to spend a week with us on the farm, and if you want to know about the war, here's your opportunity. Uncle Dan is probably one of the best-informed men in the country." Billie clapped his hands and gave such a whoop that he awakened the baby, but what could you expect of a fifteen-year-old boy who is a living interrogation point and wants to know about war?

Uncle Dan arrived in due time and Billie watched for an opportunity. It came that evening after dinner when Uncle Dan had lighted a cigar and taken a seat on the porch.

"I'm mighty glad you came, Uncle Dan. I want to talk to you about the war. We have just put military training in our township high school, but we had a hard time to do it. The Joneses and the Greggs objected. They said the war wouldn't come over here. Grandma Jones said: 'They ain't no use to worrit. It will soon blow over.' Well, we put the training in just the same. You order heard Judge Brownell, the president of the school board, do the stickers up. He said unless we take off our coats and go to it, Germany may yet win, and if she does, she will take over the great British fleet as a war trophy and compel us to do what ever she wants to; that she could make us pay all the cost of the war; the Kaiser could tax us as he pleased and that we couldn't help ourselves. He could make every one pay over a part of what he earns; that he could make the farmers pay rent for their own farms, etc. Now, Uncle, what do you think of that?"

"Well, my boy," said Uncle Dan, "all that Judge Brownell says might easily come true and may unless we go quickly to the aid of the allies with large numbers of men and help them break the German line. Unless we can beat the submarines, they may prevent us from getting enough food to the allies to keep them going. In that case Germany would win. As matters stand today, our greatest need is trained men. If we had had several millions of men with military training in our industries and in our farms when the war came, who could have been called at once for service, I do not believe the Kaiser would have forced the war upon us. As it was, he had no respect for us, and now we are in it and must go through with it. But never again must we be caught so wholly unprepared.

"There is only one safe way," said Uncle Dan, "and that is to adopt permanently universal military training, apply it to every young man who is physically fit, say in his nineteenth or twentieth year. The training can be carried forward in the United States by establishing training camps that are now being established for training men called by the selective draft. As soon as these men vacate these stations, they should be filled by younger men, and this should be made the permanent policy of the country."

Billie's mother, Mrs. Graham, had overheard the conversation. She came out and said: "Really, Brother Dan, are you serious as to the dangers of our country? If it is as bad as that, it is high time for us to wake up and do something about it."

"Exactly," replied Uncle Dan. "It is better to wake up now than to be rudely awakened later. We may as well understand sister, that this is our war and we must win it or God help America. Everything that we have or hope to have—our liberties, our blessings, our opportunities are all involved in the great issue before us. Nothing must stand between us and winning this war. It is a question whether the peoples' right or the Kaiser's might shall dominate the world. If there ever was a holy war, this is it. We are fighting for world liberty. We are fighting for the freedom of humanity. We are fighting for the right of men to govern themselves instead of being governed against their will by a vast and overlord. Perilous times are ahead of us. We must be prepared to make any sacrifice, to perform any service that may be required of us."

"Oh, Uncle Dan," exclaimed Billie, "may I bring my chum, Jimmie Collins, when we have our next talk? He is a bug on this war business and just crazy to see you."

"Certainly," said Uncle Dan, with a hearty laugh. "If we are to have more talks, I shall be glad to have Jimmie join us."

Billie clapped his hands and ran to the phone and told Jimmie to be over at seven o'clock the next evening.

The Clear Conscience.

Every man should so live that he need not worry even when he knows that he talks in his sleep.

Optimistic Thought.

A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of learning.

Entirely Sanitary.

It is said that books carry disease germs because they are read by all sorts of persons. We may regard the congressional record as the shining example of the absolutely sanitary publication.

Here's a Suggestion.

"Mebbe times wouldn't seem so tryin'," said Uncle Eben, "if dey could put some sport into 'de game of livin' an' give a cup or a medal or sumpin' foh de champion economizer."

OYSTERS NOW IN

The public will be glad to hear that oysters is one nourishing food product that has not advanced beyond reason. You can buy Oysters in place of meat and be well nourished at a great saving.

Winter Potatoes We have been fortunate enough to buy several cars of potatoes at a very reasonable price and suggest that you begin to think about laying in your supply for winter. The uncertainty of the markets might mean an advance at any time. Excellent Quality and cheap.
